Here are a few examples of Good Info Gems...

Imagine if...

You could take a quarter of a cup of water and create enough energy to heat your house for 100 years. Is this a fantasy? No, it's sonofusion! Let's support the further development of this low cost, pollution-free technology for home use.

Did you know that...

A system has been developed that can purify E. Coli-infected water for African families using a simple clear bottle placed for two days on a corrugated metal sheet under the UV rays of the sun? We can provide this technology for $50 to each family and save millions of lives!

Would you believe that...

Science is demonstrating that everything and everyone is connected as part of a continuous energy field. As a result, every feeling we have exerts an influence on the whole – the people around us, the circumstances of our lives, the world. Amazing! How can we use this knowledge as a tool to effect positive changes for the global community and ourselves?

You will be both educated and transformed by the “Good Info.”

Why we are taking this unique approach

There is so much information that needs to reach the right recipients who can benefit or who can be the necessary conduit. It’s impossible to know everyone who needs it and how to reach them, using typical information sources.

There may be individuals with abilities and connections to help further a project or cause currently unknown to them. We all have important roles to play in this world, and places where our unique skills and capabilities are needed-if only we knew! So GDNFO wants to place this information in every day places to increase our chances of making connections that will make a difference to individuals and the world.

GDNFO

Mission Statement

Communicating to and connecting the world with cutting-edge discoveries, transformational knowledge, little-known inventions, and other worthy endeavors, to change individual lives and catalyze global changes.

About GDNFO

GDNFO, pronounced “Good Info,” is a non-profit organization dedicated to investigating and communicating to the general public much-needed information that is often unavailable through ordinary mainstream communication media, or requires an investment of our already precious and limited time.

Using an innovative and widespread communications approach, we will connect the world to positive, valuable, knowledge and “news we can use” via our Good Info Gems.

These gems of information will transform lives and expedite global solutions.

The ability to establish connections and communicate efficiently is precisely what has advanced our civilization and technology at such a rapid rate. This is also key to bringing about much-needed positive changes at this point in history and a cornerstone of GDNFO’s vision.

How we will do it

- Receive tax deductible donations to acquire paid messaging space and to fund the project
- Seek, solicit, and summarize beneficial information from diverse sources
- Establish relationships with individuals, corporations, product manufacturers, restaurants, advertisers, Internet parked page companies, search engines, etc., who have message placement opportunities
- Brainstorm with the Internet domain industry to create an innovative “win-win program” for domain owners to offer available messaging space
- Encourage ongoing collaboration with the public and our partners to connect and communicate “Good Info.”

How you can participate in this exciting project

We are always looking for passionate people who would like contribute, in anyway, to our cause. Do you or someone you know have access or influence over any “white space” (advertising or other empty space) where we can present an impactful educational or public service message?

Examples include:

- Product packaging
- Posters and billboards in public places
- Internet space (live web sites or parked pages)
- Television, radio, apparel and promotional items

To provide messaging space, offer your talents, or make a contribution in any form, please contact us!
